ICELAND

There were a number of reports on Icelandic fish exports to the United States, in addition to the information found on the following tables from the Consular Files, in the file on Iceland.

The information on herring given below was received from Mr. Edwin F. Jones, Office of Distribution, War Food Administration:

Iceland Herring Board estimates that 1944 herring pack can be 200-250,000 barrels @250 pounds net weight. Without refilling and immediate shipping, plus unselective demand up to 400,000 barrels can be packed if equipment is available to start in the middle of July.

Prices on Herring

the first time, and the author has been unable to find any reference to it in any of the standard works on the subject. It is described as follows:

The plant is a small shrub, 1 m. high, with a few slender branches. The leaves are opposite, elliptic, acute, 10 mm. long, 5 mm. wide, with a prominent midrib. The flowers are numerous, white, bell-shaped, 10 mm. long, with a short tube and a spreading limb. The fruit is a small, round, yellowish-orange berry, 5 mm. in diameter.

NETHERLANDS

There was no information available on the Netherlands fishing industry in the Consular Files.

NEWFOUNDLAND

A number of monthly reports were found in the Consular File on fish species, world exports, and exports to the United States.

Reports varied concerning Codfish. The following are reports of the Codfish catch for selected years:

NORWAY

Reports on conditions in Norway under German occupation were found in the Consular File. The following table is a secret report from German Exploitation of the Norwegian Fishing Industry in A.I.(K) Report No.270/1942, September 14, 1942, Naval Air Attaché, London. Most of these exports shown were to Germany with only a small percentage left for civilian consumption.

The last report available on whaling, herring and fish found in the file for Norway was dated 1937.

Referring to the following tables from The Monthly Report on Norwegian Fisheries, December 1930, a third table, Section III, giving price quotations for Section I and II, was also in the report.

UNITED KINGDOM

There was no available information on the United Kingdom fishing industry, concerning export or production figures, found in the Consular Files. A number of Emergency Powers orders on the fish industry, articles on the Problems on Fish Distribution, and Fish Zoning plans were part of the material there.
